What is a sheet metal enclosure?

Sheet metal enclosures are casings made from fabricated metal sheets for protecting, shielding, and mounting electrical components. They play a vital role in safeguarding electronic and mechanical systems by protecting against physical damage, thermal changes, and electromagnetic interference.

Why should you choose a sheet metal enclosure?

Efficient heat dissipation prevents overheating, thereby extending the lifespan of the internal components. Most enclosures will require some type of electrical grounding in order to be certified for CE, ETL, UL, or other standards. Selecting the right sheet metal material is essential in designing an effective enclosure.

What makes a good enclosure design?

A good enclosure design must strike a balance between performance and manufacturing efficiency. Corrosion and weather resistance can come from material selection (stainless /aluminum /UV-resistant plastics) or by secondary finishing (powder coating, galvanization, etc.).
